Dear Parents and Carers,

New Valley World Book Day – Thursday 30th March

Our own version of World Book Day takes place at New Valley next week (Thursday 30th March). To mark the day, the children will be taking part in a variety of activities, with different teachers around the school, celebrating and sharing their love of reading.

As usual, children are welcome to come dressed as their favourite book character if they would like to. However, this year we will also be getting them to try something new: we would like each child to spend time at home creating their character out of a wooden spoon.

Here are a few suggestions to get them started, but we know that your children will have even better ideas of their own.

Please bring your design into school on Thursday 30th March. We cannot wait to see their different creations!

Yours sincerely

Mrs Rosewell
English Lead
