Starter: Who would you ask?

Discuss (2-3 mins)

Discuss with your partner. Who would you ask for help if...

You needed help with your school work?

Someone was being mean to you?

Had a bad dream at night?

You got lost in a supermarket?

Saw something scary on the internet?

You were worried about a friend?

Challenge:

Would you want these people to help you? What if they said no?

Should you stand up for other people?

Why are we talking about this?

Right now, there are a lot of people protesting because they don't think black people are being treated fairly.

Lots of people around the world are also speaking out online and in protests to support them, even if it doesn't affect them.

But should you stand up for other people? Or is it better to leave it to other/older people? That's what you'll be thinking about today.

What would you do?

Someone in your class is getting shouted at by the teacher for throwing their book on the floor, but you saw that it was an accident. But if you say something, you're worried the teacher might shout at you.

What would you do?

a) Stand up for them.

b) Wait for someone else to stand up for them.

c) Ignore it and carry on with my work.

What would you do?

What would you do?

You're in the playground and you see girl from a younger year group getting pushed around by some kids in your class. You don't know who the girl is, but she looks upset.
What would you do?

What would you do?

a) I would go over and tell them to stop.

b) I would find someone older than me to help them.

c) I would help them.

What would you do?

Charlotte's older cousin is supposed to walk her home from school everyday. Sometimes he leaves and goes home without which means she's left to walk home on her own. You live in the opposite direction to Charlotte.

What would you do?

a) Tell him to walk Charlotte home

b) Tell the teacher or a parent.

c) Ignore it because your mum walks you home, so you're ok.

What would you do?

What would you do?

You hear one of your friends say to a new girl “go back to your country”. Your teacher has told you that it’s not ok to say that because it’s rude and mean. What would you do?

What would you do?

a) Tell your friend they’re wrong to say that.

b) Tell a teacher.

c) Ignore them.

Should I get involved?

My friend has asked me to join her protest to get rid of school uniforms, but actually I don't mind school uniforms! Should I join her, even though I don't agree?

Should he get involved?
Why/why not?

Yes, she should!

No, she shouldn't!

Should I get involved?

A girl in my class is in a wheelchair and can't get up the stairs. She's asked everyone to sign a petition to get a ramp in school. I don't have a wheelchair, but should I sign the petition?

Should she get involved?
Why/why not?

Yes, she should!

No, she shouldn't!

Should I get involved?

My friend keeps starting fights with other people. He said I should stand up for him, even though he's the one starting it and I don't like to fight. Should I get involved?

Should he get involved?
Why/why not?

Yes, she should!

No, she shouldn't!

Should I get involved?

My school has started a student council and my friends think I should join because I have lots of good ideas on how to help our school. However, I'm really shy and don't know anyone on the council. Should I get involved?

Should she get involved?
Why/why not?

Yes, she should!

No, she shouldn't!

Should you stand up for other people?
